Business Recommendations

Recommendation 1: Prioritize high-activity users for premium retention and business-oriented service offers.
Reason: the model identifies a distinct high-activity segment with heavy transaction intensity and larger behavioral footprint.

Recommendation 2: Design onboarding or usage-growth campaigns for low-activity users.
Reason: many low-activity users show very sparse monthly usage, so targeted incentives may help move them into more regular transaction behavior.

Recommendation 3: Build segment-specific support and pricing policies.
Reason: medium and high users likely differ in transfer intensity, payment habits, and transaction value profile, so one generic product strategy will underperform.

Expected impact:
Better targeting can improve retention, increase transaction frequency, and reduce wasted promotional spending on poorly matched offers.
